Cover the front!

Front lighting in a band or other performance setting should be your first priority. And when you are lighting performers, having a broad color palette and warm white capability is a must. Here's 5 Fixtures that can fit that bill from top of the line down to very affordable.

Propar Quadra

These fixtures employ 12, 4 way high power LEDs. They are similar to Tri LEDs, but have a white element for a wider color palette to create pastels and can create warm white. They are extremely bright, but massively versatile for front lighting applications. The Pro par has a heavy duty form factor suitable for professional touring and installation use.

Propar Quadra MAP: $699.99

Rocklite Quadra

This fixture has the same quad LEDs for red green blue and white, but adds another 6 to make it even brighter than the Propar version. The rolled aluminum case is still very durable, and it makes the fixture a little more lightweight.

Rocklite Quadra MAP: $549.99

Rocker Panel

The rocker panel gets a mention because of its combination of red green blue and amber diodes. This make it a great front light for producing warmer colors, including a warm white. It also has a wider coverage angle for washing the front of the stage or dance floor.

Rocker Panel MAP: $249.99

Puck 3

This is a tri led fixture, which can produce a good white for the front. It has a great compact form factor that really helps portability in mobile DJ or band lighting systems. Super bright with 9 3 watt tri LEDs, a dual yoke for mounting versatility and a great price.

Puck 3 MAP: $199.99

Puck RGBA

Very similar to the Rockerpanel, this also has red green blue and amber diodes, but has a great flat and compact form factor. This makes it extremely portable and packable in the truck or trailer. Great brightness for the money, and is likely the most affordable RGBA LED fixture on the market today.

Puck RGBA MAP: $169.99
